FLEEING BEFORE THE FIRES.
Woodmen in Manitoba Forests Are Running for Life.

Winnipeg, Manitoba, April 22.—Fires along the Southern shore of Lake Winnipeg are exact amount of damage or loss of life is not ascertained. The entrapped flames succeeded in breaking through the flames and arrived this morning after one of the most thrilling escapes in the history of the province. Brought in with it were several stragglers found in a desperate condition near Nussau. These fugitives lost everything. All tell thrilling stories of escape from death.

Besides immense quantities of lumber and wood two large lumbering outfits are known to be burned. The drivers and huskies have been scattered in all directions and out of 20 only about thirty are known to have reached a place of safety. The remainder are doubtless struggling desperately through the weather.

The intensity of the flames provides the possibility of any dead bodies being recovered as they are in a very condition. Corn which the fatalities will not be known until contractors can call the roll of the men they employed. The total loss is estimated at $1,000,000.

HEAVY RAINS IN TEXAS.
Windstorm Strikes the Northeastern Part of the State.

REPUBLICAN SPECIAL.
Dallas, Tex., April 22.—Heavy rains have fallen all over Texas today, extending to Texas from the north and to San Antonio on the south.

A bulletin from San Antonio says the rain fell there in torrents for three hours, and that the streets were like rivers. A severe windstorm prevailed this evening in Northeast Texas, but it was not as severe as the one which struck the State yesterday.

Between Shreveport and Marshall, Texas, and other light movable property suffered considerably.

Congressman R. E. Burke returned to Dallas today from a canvass of his district. He said this evening that he had been over the four large and important counties of Ellis, Hill, Johnson and Dallas. Crops are in a very condition. Corn which ought to be by this time at least knee high and plowed out, is not higher than an average, and the stalks look exactly like sugar corn. The ground is water-soaked and soggy.

It is scarcely peeping through the ground. What is short and badly in the past. The farmers are discouraged and the prospect is gloomy.

It has been observed that rain has fallen at Dallas at some time during the month of April, and March also had considerable wet weather.

PROSPECTIVE BRIDE WAS HIS DAUGHTER.

Adam Corfield Accidentally Discovered Dead Wife's Photograph in His Fiancee's Album.

REPUBLICAN SPECIAL.
Washington, April 22.—The lobby of the transcontinental railroads will be in Washington this week, armed with arguments to prevent action, if possible, on the Nicaragua Canal bill, which comes up next week in the House.

Several amendments have been prepared which will be offered by railroad attorneys occupying seats as members of the House. Every conceivable kind of pressure is to be brought to bear to secure the adoption of one or more emasculating amendments.

In one of these all reference as to the time when the work shall be commenced will be stricken out so as to make the law incomplete and not mandatory. An effort will be made to engraft upon the bill certain impossible concessions to be demanded from Costa Rica and Nicaragua for the express purpose of postponing definite action.

Another amendment will strike out all reference to the Nicaragua route and have that important matter in the hands of the President.

It will also be attempted to strike from the bill all appropriations of money, even an initial sum, for the purpose of crippling the measure and making the law impossible of enforcement.

It was the original intention to have blocked the bill entirely, and prevent definite and affirmative action. The railroad interests discovered, however, that the House was determined to do something. The programme of the lobby now is to stop the bill by any means possible.

Hence the amendments proposed.

REPUBLICAN SPECIAL.
Toluca, Mex., April 22.—But for an accidental discovery of his dead wife's photograph in his fiancée's album, Adam Corfield, a middle-aged farmer, living within three miles of Hopewell, Harrison County, Ohio, would have been married within twenty-four hours to his own daughter.

He had arrived in Charleston, W. Va., to be married to the young lady, Miss Lucy Cole, and on the evening before the ceremony was sitting with her looking at the portraits in the album. He was surprised into a sharp exclamation by seeing the picture of his wife, who had been dead over eighteen years.

Miss Cole, noticing the exclamation, said: "That is my mother; she has been dead many years."

Then, in answer to Corfield's excited question, the whole story came out. Miss Cole was not the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cole, with whom she was living. They had adopted her while she was a little child and she had taken their name. She never knew who her father was and could not remember her mother. Her adopted parents were able to explain something of the story.

Corfield was just returned to his home near Hopewell, where he hopes his daughter will come to make a home for him. His affection for the girl was rather that of an elderly man for a young maiden, and he is well satisfied to have lost a wife and found a daughter.

Miss Cole, or Miss Corfield, has not yet decided to leave her adopted home.

The story of Corfield's early marriage is told by a young lady in Charleston, W. Va., who worked for a peach grower at a New Jersey named "Cole." There was only one daughter of the name, and she was enamored. When this was discovered Corfield was threatened with dismissal and the two were forbidden to have any communication.

Two weeks afterward the marriage was discovered, and Corfield was obliged to leave. He went to his home in Ohio, and within two weeks he received an advertisement in a matrimonial paper from a young lady in Charleston, W. Va., and a four years' correspondence ensued. Corfield says that he was strangely attracted to the girl, and he went to see the young lady and the impression he asked for this month. Just on the eve of the marriage the discovery was made that prevented the union.

KILLED HIS BEST FRIEND.
William Aylward Cut William Larkin's Throat.

Chicago, Ill., April 22.—Laboring under the hallucination that his friends had entered into a conspiracy to kill him, and armed with liquor, William Aylward, a fisherman, today slashed with a pocket-knife the throat of his old friend and schoolmate, William Larkin, severing the knife artery some seven inches.

Larkin staggered from the house, falling in haste by young Morris, William Harrison and John Clark. James Ryan, the first to reach the scene, rushed through the window.

Aylward left the house, and after throwing the knife among some weeds, went directly to the Hyde Park Police Station, three blocks away. He stepped up to the desk and said: "I've just cut a man and I thought I'd better tell you about it."

For two days Aylward has been drinking heavily. Larkin and the other men visited the shack today. Aylward was in a quivering mood, and had the idea that all present were his enemies and had formed a conspiracy to kill him. Aylward suddenly asked Larkin: "Have you got a gun about you?"

Larkin's pockets, and then, springing back, he shouted: "You don't come any of your tricks on me."

He then drew from his pocket a jack-knife and, opening it, slashed Larkin's throat.

WILL TREAT ALL ALIKE.
Porte's Reply to the American Demands.

Constantinople, April 22.—The Porte has replied to the American demands stating that Turkey will compensate American missionaries under the same conditions as in the case of other foreign subjects.

The United States Legation joined the other embassies in protesting against the increase of import duties, the reply to the notification of the Porte asserting that the United States Government expects to be previously consulted with regard to any changes.

The Porte has not yet replied to the last collective note, but the changed tone of Ottoman officials leads to a belief that a settlement has been reached in conformity with the demands of the foreign representatives. It is now expected that the Porte will invite the embassies to discuss the proposed changes.

There is great interest in political circles regarding the attitude of the United States in the indemnity claim, and it is believed that the Powers having similar claims will support American action in the matter.

WASHINGTON DISPATCH.
Washington, April 22.—Neither Secretary Hay nor the Turkish Republic has been advised in reply to the action of the Porte in replying to the American demands. In the absence of official information and of the specific conditions of the reply, officials here prefer not to discuss the matter, but express the hope that a satisfactory and amicable settlement of the difference between the two countries may be reached.

WEPENER RELIEF FORCE STOPPED.

when the long-expected advance northward will begin. The dispatches conflict regarding the state of preparations. For instance, the Bloemfontein correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says the troops have been supplied with winter clothing, and that the Molder River has fallen sufficiently to permit cavalry to cross. The Standard's report says almost the exact opposite. Present indications, however, point to still further delay.

Without attaching undue importance to the stories from Lorenzo Marquez, concerning the strength of the Boer forces, it would almost seem that the former estimates of Boer strength were rather low.

During the last few days there has been a renewal of the Boer activity in all parts of the theater of war. The tenacity of the enemy around Clifton largely proves that considerable forces are still there. Lord Roberts has ordered Lord Methuen to re-form from Bloemfontein for the second time.

The presence of a Boer force at Frankfort looks like an intention to endeavor to cut off Methuen, who may next be heard of as retreating upon Kimberley. The Boers are said to have several outposts affairs in that vicinity.

The Eleventh Division, under General Pole-Carew, and the Fourth Cavalry Brigade are operating toward Sannas Post.

In Natal there is no diminution of Boer activity. It is reported that Sir Charles Warren is to be appointed Governor of the Cape. Nothing is known regarding Sir Robert Bull's departure for England regarding his removal, and rumor has it that Lord Kitchener will get an important independent command.

The Boer Peace Commissioners are understood to have been disappointed by their visit to The Hague, but to be determined to visit Berlin and Paris before going to Washington.

CHICAGO STRIKERS IN NEED.
Several Thousand Persons Suffering Severely.

REPUBLICAN SPECIAL.
Chicago, Ill., April 22.—Starvation has become a serious problem in the city, and the persistent policy of the leaders of the Building Trades Council in holding the men out of the city has resulted in a dire situation. The council estimates that with their families, 4,500 persons are now in a dire straits. Three of them—President Carroll, Vice President Smith, and Treasurer James Brown—leave today by orders of the council for different parts of the country to raise funds from the workmen of other cities.

Four thousand men are on strike, without incomes, and $100 a day, or $200 a week, which their wives would have to support. The council estimates that one thousand of the worst workmen of the city and their families are starving. In many cases the men are in actual physical distress while their husbands remain in the city. The officers hope for good success, but they recognize that the strike is a long one, and that the men will have to be fed on their own hands, and not by the city.

SERIOUS RIOT IS FEARED IN CANADA.

Men Accused of Dynamiting the Welland Canal Lock Are in Jail.

RESCUE MAY BE ATTEMPTED.
Troops Are Called Out at Clifton.

Out—Four Hundred Buffalo Grain Shovelers Said to Be Involved.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 22.—A Niagara Falls special to the Express says:

Chief Youngs, of the Dominion Police, his force of half a dozen regular policemen, and 20 armed deputies, are guarding the jail at Clifton, Ontario, where are confined the three men charged with blowing up lock No. 24 at Thorold, Ontario, last evening.

The extraordinary precautions taken for the guarding of the men is the result of a rumor that reached Chief Youngs this afternoon, to the effect that 400 Buffalo grain shovelers were on their way here to liberate the prisoners. The men were greeted with a gun salute by the 400 men, who were agents for Buffalo grain shovelers and sought to blow up the lock for the purpose of disabling the Welland Canal, thereby preventing the passage of grain through the canal from Port Colborne to Montreal. With the canal closed, it is argued, the shovelers of Buffalo might have more work than they could handle with the canal open. This line of reasoning, added by rumors of an impending invasion of shovelers from Buffalo, resulted in the heroic measures taken by Chief Youngs.

Held Organized.
It was said in Clifton to-night that the grain handlers of Buffalo had organized for the raid and that they would reach the Canadian town to-night. Not knowing what to expect after such an unusual thing as the assault on the lock yesterday, the authorities determined to take no chances. It is believed that the force at hand will be able to repel any party that may attempt to release the men from jail. That such an attempt will be made is not generally credited.

Today Chief Youngs brought from Thorold to Clifton two men who positively identified the three men in jail as the men who were seen around the lock and who were seen to run away from the vicinity of the lock after the explosion. The men who identified the prisoners are in the employ of the Dominion Canal Department, but their names are not made public.

They admit that they saw the three prisoners at the lock more or less yesterday afternoon, but say they had no idea the men were bent on mischief. Immediately after the explosion the three men saw three men run away from the lock. They called Mayor Wilson of Thorold, Constable Clark and the Mayor took a horse and buggy and started for the lock. The three men were struck a short distance out of Thorold, and they were followed half way to Clifton. They were Mayor and Constable stopped, and taken to Clifton, where they were held until the arrest of the fugitives.

The Suspects.
The men who were with the shovelers, but they made no attempt to use them. Walsh and Nolan, two of the men, had been around the Canadian side of the river for several days. The third man, name unknown, had a room in Clifton, and frequently met the other two, who came across the river. The unknown is believed to be the leader of the gang. He is about 30 years of age, weighs 200 pounds, is 5 feet 9 inches tall and has a smooth face.

Today the method of procedure of the dynamiters was formed in full. The men made several sticks of dynamite into two bundles. These bundles they suspended by ropes at points about half way to the bottom of the lock at the middle. The half way from gate to gate. Wires were found after the explosion that lead to the belief that the dynamite was exploded by electricity.

The run of the lock is believed to have carried the batteries away with them and to have disposed of them during the flight. As large quantities of grain pass over the steel arched bridge of the Grand Trunk, it is said the men would have blown it up if they had been able to escape arrest at Thorold.

The prisoner, John Nolan, says he is a mechanic from Philadelphia. The prisoner, John Walsh, says he is a bartender from Washington, D. C.

A Niagara Falls, Ontario, special says that Mayor Slater, with two other magistrates, have made a demand for a detachment of No. 10 company, Forty-fourth battalion, to guard the jail on the ground that the police would be powerless. Captain Vandervoort, who came out on a detachment of twenty men, under a Sergeant, who were put on guard. They were served with ten rounds of ammunition each, and are now doing guard duty at the jail with fixed bayonets.
